From Learning to Love: The Selected Papers of H.F. Harlow (Centennial Psychology Series) By Clara M Harlow

From the 1930's to the 1970's, Harry Harlow's experimental findings have changed the way psychologists view learning, thinking, and motivation. The papers selected for From Learning to Love study behavior principles and describe better techniques for examining them. They discuss in depth the development of learning, motivation, and the affectual system as well as the interrelationships between love, aggression, and fear. A comprehensive collection, From Learning to Love is a valuable resource for psychiatrists, child care specialists, and parents who want to understand how their children develop.

Editorial Review

Review

?If one would like to have easy access to a collection of Harry Harlow's better-known papers, this is the book to have. In my view, Harry Harlow's work on attachment systems, on learning, and on motivation should be a basic part of requirements of every psychiatry residency. I urge my psychiatric colleagues to read as much of him as possible in the areas mentioned above and to incorporate more of his writings into our medical student and residency education programs, especially in child psychiatry.? -Book Forum
