Fly Away Home By Christine Nostlinger

When her family's apartment in Vienna is bombed, Christel Goth and her family lose everything. They are offered the use of a summer villa in the suburbs, and walk there in just the clothes they stand up in. The war is ending, and there is a precarious existence eking out food stores, and anticipating horrors from the oncoming Russian army. But when they come, the worst the soldiers do is get drunk and fire their guns. It's a tense time, and Christel's active curiosity leads her into all sorts of dangerous places.

Editorial Review

Review

"Realism devoid of self-pity." —Booklist

"Christine Nöstlinger is a reliably bad child-rearing influence of the same caliber as Astrid Lindgren. Her diversified and highly committed authorship is characterized by disrespectful humor, clear-sighted solemnity and inconspicuous warmth. She is a staunch supporter of children and those living on the margin of society."
—Astrid Lindgren Memorial Award jury

Language Notes

Text: English, German (translation)
